PREFACE

Trans and gender diverse (TGD) persons are significantly impacted by sexual assault and intimate partner violence (Blondeel et al., 2017; Peitzmeier et al., 2020). One national survey found that 26% of TGD persons reported experiences of sexual assault in the past 5 years and more than 3-in-5 trans women reported experiences of physical and sexual intimate partner violence since age 16 (The Trans PULSE Canada Team, 2021). Despite this, many trans persons delay or avoid seeking the care they need due to past and/or anticipated experiences of stigmatization, discrimination, and mistreatment in healthcare settings (Bauer, Scheim, Deutsch, & Massarella, 2014).

There is a clear and pressing need for national, intersectoral action to address the issue of sexual assault and intimate partner violence against trans and gender diverse persons across Canada. Our national partnership brings together diverse TGD-positive community and healthcare organizations, TGD communities, the public sector, academics, and trainees from all provinces and territories with the goal of improving supports for TGD survivors of sexual assault and intimate partner violence. Our partnership, which builds on the successes of the Ontario trans-LINK Network, is establishing a first-of-its-kind national network, the trans-LINK Canada Network.

As part of our ongoing efforts to foster connection and collaboration, this directory includes important information on organization represented across the trans-LINK Canada Network to date. Listings include a brief summary of services, as well as up-to-date contact information, to aid organizations in consolidating partnerships and making safer, more seamless referrals across sectors and provinces and territories.

Our hope is that this resource is of use to those providing services and supports to TGD survivors of sexual assault and intimate partner violence across Canada, as well as to survivors themselves. We encourage you to use and share this directory to broaden professional networks across the country to better serve these communities.

This resource is an expansion of the Ontario trans-LINK Network Directory, which was created by Joseph Friedman Burley, Daisy Kosa, Melissa Miljanovski, Megan Saad, Sheila Macdonald, Chett Bradley, and Janice Du Mont.
